You are certainly allowed to use your textbook/notes, but it is strongly advised that you have completed the assigned readings for that exam prior to starting it. Make up exams are not permitted for any reason. Please plan accordingly.

Discussion Boards: There are 4 discussion boards over the course of the semester. For each discussion board, you will be provided a prompt question to respond to. Your first post must be completed by a specified date and time, and you must also respond to one other classmate by a different date and time. All dates and times are specified in the course schedule and in the prompt of the discussion board itself. Your first post must be a minimum of 200 words. Your response must be a minimum of 100 words. Failure to make both posts on time will result in a zero for the activity.

Movie Review: The film review is your opportunity to illustrate your depth of knowledge on gender-related topics discussed in this course. There is a separate, more detailed instruction sheet available on ROC. Please thoroughly read through that sheet for instructions, prompt questions, and other paper requirements. The due date for this activity is specified in the course schedule.

An Important Note on Plagiarism: Do not plagiarize any portion of your assignments (not even a single sentence). If you are unclear on what constitutes plagiarism, please ask me for more information. Even one sentence of one answer/assignment that is plagiarized will result in an F on that activity and disciplinary action may be taken. Any subsequent plagiarism will result in an F in the course, and disciplinary action will be taken. Plagiarism is a crime.

Extra Credit: Extra credit is not available in this course. Please do your best on all activities, follow all instructions, and submit all work on time.

Attendance and Participation: This course takes place entirely online. As such, you are required to log in and interact with the course activities on a regular basis. Please be familiar with the course schedule, located at the end of this document.
